

WHOLE NUMBER 6,429.

Mr. L. P. Morton has contributed $1,000 to the fund for the proposed Garfield Memorial Hospital.

The Newport Mercury.

John P. Sawyer, Editor and Proprietor.
SATURDAY, JANUARY 21, 1882.

The agents of two large steamship lines favor steam pilotage.

The laborers on the Panama canal show their Americanism by striking.

Russian finances are in a bad way. Too much army, too much nihilism, and too much government.

The abolition of slavery is proceeding so slowly in Brazil that full freedom for all is a long way off.

Professor Nordenfjeld's next Arctic expedition will not take place until 1884. That will be soon enough.

There were over 2000 shipwrecks over the world in 1881. What a vast deal of suffering that simple statement covers.

The project for a World's fair in Boston is practically abandoned for the present. World's fairs are at a discount just now.

Senator Lamar, the noblest Bourbon of them all, has been re-elected to the United States Senate by the Mississippi Legislature.

Europe, it is feared, is on the eve of a grave financial crisis. Over-speculation bears the blame. It will be this country's turn next.

"My life has been rather a sad one," is Guitau's statement. We don't wonder. A man who has caused as much misery as Guitau, ought to be saturated with sadness.

Dr. Bliss says that he and his associates have neither sent in any bills for attending the late president, nor do they intend to. They are prudent in following this course.

We do not know that Fall River is a particularly belligerent town, but we notice that the newspapers of that city have about as many libel suits as all the rest of Massachusetts put together.

Public decorum in Spain and this country isn't quite identical. We read that the King and Queen of Spain spent Sunday in witnessing a bull fight and going to the theatre. The next morning they left Lisbon for a hunting excursion on the frontier of Spain.

The school board of Quincy, Ill., attempted to keep colored children from attending the same schools as the white children; but the supreme court has brought the board to terms by deciding that there can be no discrimination, in the schools, on account of color. It takes a good while to get the fifteenth amendment through some thick craniums.

The Future of the South.

The signs of the time point to a profound political change in the South. General Mahone has led the way in Virginia, and overcome Bourbonism, to the amazement of the Bourbons most of all. They are now, two months after their defeat, just awakening to inquire how they were hurt. This, they will find, was accomplished by the uprising of the progressive and independent members of the Democratic party. In union with the Republicans they have wrested the sceptre from the Bourbons. They are pledged to progress, to the advancement of the State's interests, to the establishment of real political equality, to the actual enfranchisement of the negroes, to the spread of education among blacks and whites, and to a fair division of profit between capital and labor.

What has been done in Virginia bids fair to be repeated in several other States. In Mississippi an independent movement is rapidly gaining strength. Congressman Spear promises to make a rally for the redemption of Georgia from the moss-grown and hide-bound rule of Bourbonism. In Texas, the most overwhelming by Democratic of Democratic States, the Bourbon leaders are alarmed over a projected independent organization. Even South Carolina, Louisiana and Alabama show signs of revolt, and everywhere the more progressive Southerners are clamoring for a more liberalized State policy. North Carolina probably will also be redeemed. In South Carolina there is a new source of trouble. The negroes are beginning an exodus, and already several thousands have left for their new homes. The negroes go, they say, because in South Carolina they cannot earn a living and are deprived of all political rights. They charge the land owners with extortionate prices and the government with laying on them heavy burdens of taxation without proper protection civil and political. There are grave accusations, and if true, the landholders are fighting against their own interests most astonishingly.

This showing is added evidence that the demand for more progressive, humane and liberal government in the Southern States is well-founded. The demand will be answered, and with the coming in of new ideas, a new era will be opened for the South. Under a just and wide-awake government, the promise of its future is magnificently brilliant. A prosperity, real and enduring, is within its grasp, and it can be attained only by a policy, generous, unpartisan and enlightened.

The Guitau Trial.

In the Guitau trial at Washington on Saturday Mr. Reed occupied the whole session in an appeal to the jury, asking for an acquittal of the prisoner on the ground of insanity. On Monday Mr. Reed occupied the entire day in beginning his speech to the jury. He devoted much of his attention to an attack on Mr. Davidge's speech, and at moments displayed a lack of control of his temper. Guitau assisted him in making what the defence considered points favorable to itself. On Tuesday Mr. Reed continued to talk to the Guitau jury. He was badly out of temper and made a number of personal attacks upon Judge Porter and the District Attorney. He also attacked the methods of the prosecution. He directed his argument to prove the insanity of the assassin. Guitau announced that he had received several checks for large sums on New York banks, and added that he was in a position to pay his overdue board bills.

The Public Statutes of Rhode Island as revised and consolidated at the last January and May sessions of the General Assembly have been printed by the State Printer, Hon. E. L. Freeman, in a handsome volume of over one thousand pages. These laws go into effect February 1, 1882. The laws by this revision have not been materially changed but they have been revised and made to harmonize one with another, and brought down to the present time complete. The statutes contained in the volume before us have been indexed in a most thorough and painstaking manner by the learned commissioners who have had the revision in charge, so that each and every subject can be found with ease.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher recently uttered in his pulpit charges impugning not only the good faith of the members of the Brooklyn Board of Education, but strongly reflecting on the honor of the women teachers in the public schools. The charges caused an uproar. Mr. Beecher found that he had been entirely misinformed, and on Sunday last as publicly retracted the accusations. It is strange that he would have made such grave allegations on mere hearsay.

There is great interest felt in navy and army quarters over the bill of Senator Anthony, providing for a similar compilation of official naval history to that now so well advanced concerning the Union and the Confederate armies. The army history cannot be rendered complete without such additions from the records of the navy as Senator Anthony now proposes to supply.

The follies of the age are execrable. Young male fools in England have taken to putting rouge on their faces. It is said that some women actually draw a fine needle, threaded with dark hair, through the skin of the eyelid, forming long loops, and after the process is over—it is said to be a painless one—a splendid dark fringe veils the eye.

Nora Perry says that "church fairs are immoral and dishonest in their whole arrangement—from the sending of the prettiest young girls to beg of merchants, to the audacious doubling of price from the original cost. The raffish which so many of the orthodox object to, is honest, fair dealing, compared with these regular sales."

The Yorktown Celebration Committee has before it the unpleasant duty of asking Congress for deficiency appropriations amounting to $25,000 or more, for the settlement of unpaid bills for good cheer furnished the committee and its friends. Some plain talk may be expected when the bill comes up.

Mr. Oscar Wilde was escorted to the Century Club, in New York, on Saturday evening by Mr. John Bigelow and was there entertained by Mr. Bigelow, Mr. John W. Hammerstein, Colonel William C. Church and other aesthetic persons.

It is expected that Mr. Crapo's important bill to extend the characters of the national banks will be favorably reported in the House of Representatives from the committee on Banking and Currency.

The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Thomas Willey, the founder of Odd Fellowship in America, was celebrated in Chicago, Monday night, by a banquet given at the Grand Pacific hotel.

The installation of the Right Rev. H. Pinckney Northrop, recently consecrated Bishop of the diocese of North Carolina, took place at Wilmington, N. C., Sunday.

Edith Gray is a variety actress who charms her audiences by her striking bashfulness and fragile beauty. Still, she fired four shots at a gambler in Council Bluffs.

The commissioner of the government land office has completed a new map of the United States, said to be the most accurate piece of work of the kind ever issued.

At Liberty, Sullivan county, N. Y., there are five feet of snow on the level, and in many places on the country roads are drifts ten feet deep, impeding all travel.

Surgeon William E. Whitehead, of the United States army, died Tuesday at Tarrytown, N. Y., aged 49 years.

A Hurrying Generation.

Now-days no one has a spare minute. Progress is the watchword, and every youth is bade to seize a banner with "Excelsior" inscribed thereon and rush forward and upward. The spirit of the age is a burly policeman who gruffly bids us all "Move on!" And the most of us need little urging. We are already at full speed in a mad chase somewhere. And whither? Many of us have dim notions. To us the one thing is motion. This restless spirit of progress will not down, but constantly impels its subjects onward. We obey, and at end of life find that our blind race has availed little.

Even the man of leisure is hurried in his case. The tourist might with profit spend a summer in a trip that he compresses into two weeks, fretting and storming at a half hour's detention in his journeyings. The votaries of fashion and pleasure are often broken down by over-exertion. Their bodies are unequal to the tasks imposed on them by fashion's behests. Our educators cram the infantile mind with facts until the worried brain reels under its burden or turns disgusted from learning. Thus often the education is "blasted" at twenty that ought only to be then begun. The child is hurried to school, hurried to college, hurried into business, hurried to get rich, and is hurried to his grave, to make room for more.

Life's problems are not answered in the one injunction, "Push ahead!" We owe it to ourselves to enjoy the life that is given us. We owe it to our neighbor, to pause in our life-race, and extend to him the helping hand and speak the word of cheer or sympathy. The most progressive man is not of the greatest use in his day and generation. We have progress enough and to spare. What we want is better living for ourselves and others—a broader culture and a true humanity. We must stop to see what treasures the past has left us. To mold anew society and government is the mad dream of the Nihilist. First to preserve what we have already attained and then to add new treasures should be the rule. The hurry and scurry so strongly indicated in these days can result only in disappointment and discontent. Let us moderate this break-neck pace, which makes the world a fast moving panorama whose pictures are but faintly seen as they hurry by, and at a mild pace pursue to its end our life journey, viewing as we go the lovely scenes outspread before us by a kind creator.

Senator David Davis introduced a bill Tuesday to permit Ward Hunt, Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, to retire. Judge Hunt sticks pertinaciously to an office the duties of which his ill-health has totally incapacitated him from performing for about two years. The only way to get rid of him seems to be to give him the retiring pension to which he is entitled. Perhaps it is wise, as Judge Davis proposes, to let him have the annuity he is waiting for, in order to give the overworked court the services of a fresh judge able to work for his salary.

Justice Gray took his seat in the Supreme Court last week with a dignity refreshing to see in a city which harbors Guitau and his antics. His stately figure in its heavy robe towered above all others, and only for a moment was his cool gravity disturbed. There was a little confusion about the ceremony of bowing to his associates, and the new Justice is reported to have "blushed like a girl."

Hon. Alexander H. Bullock, LL. D., of Worcester, dropped dead on the sidewalk Tuesday afternoon of apoplexy. He was a native of Templeton, born in 1816, graduated at Amherst, adopted the profession of the law, and was Governor of Massachusetts from 1866 to 1869. He was one of the foremost among the able and leading men of the State.

Blackwood having accused Mr. Gladstone of coining the compound word "blood-guiltiness," it has been discovered that it occurs in the fifty-first psalm. The gifted editor should remember the study of his childhood.

Ex-Judge McKenzie, a leading lawyer of Hampton, la., the man who sent Gen. Sherman's signal during the war, "Hold the Fort, we're coming," died at his home Sunday morning, after a lingering illness.

The Malley boys and Blanche Douglas have been indicted for murdering Jennie Cramer in New Haven. Their trial will be the next sensation in the criminal annals.

Small-pox has made its appearance in Fall River, the patient being a woman from Pittsburg. She was ill four days before a physician was called.

The police authorities of Fall River made an attempt to purify its moral atmosphere, Saturday evening, by raiding several dance-houses. Fifty-four arrests were made.

John S. Savory, a prominent temperance and anti-slavery man, died in Brooklyn Wednesday, aged 70 years. He was a native of Lyme, N. H.

The Iowa Legislature has chosen as United States Senators, James F. Wilson for the long term, and J. W. McMill for the short term.

A relief movement for the homeless Jews of Russia has been started in London.

Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, has received a letter from a lady in Boston, who said that she lived on Shawmut avenue, was cultivated, had one hundred thousand dollars in bank, was but thirty-eight years old, and anxious to be made a Mayor's bride.

A Cleveland "seer" who claims to have warned Gen. Garfield that he would be assassinated, even before the presidential election, now predicts that Guitau will not be hanged, but that he will be killed, and that others will be killed at the same time.

The directors of the Williamite Linen Company at a meeting on Saturday voted to increase the capital of the company from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000.

A Magnificent Dwelling.

Some notion of the magnitude and cost of the work done upon Mr. Vanderbilt's new house at Fifth avenue and Fifty-first street, New York, now completed, may be inferred from the fact that between 600 and 700 men were employed upon the interior decorations for a year and a half. Sixty foreign carvers and sculptors were employed for two years, having been engaged in Europe for the work and brought to this country under contracts which assured them pay at an average rate of $60 a week and passage both ways. The plans for the house were finished in December, 1879, the design originally being to build with a light Ohio freestone relieved by red and black marble details. Mr. Vanderbilt insisted upon the change to brown stone after the foundations were dug, and would not even allow the delay asked by Harter Brothers to alter the designs to harmonize with brown stone. He would, he said, take the responsibility of making the change.

PORTSMOUTH.

DAUGHTERS OF REHEAR INSTALLATION.—The following officers of Grace Lodge No. 11 were installed into their respective chairs on Tuesday evening last, by R. W. D. D. G. M., John B. Cornell, assisted by John H. Chase as G. W. and G. Sec., and John T. Brown as G. M. and G. Treasurer: N. G.—John H. Chase. V. G.—Mary A. Chase. Rec. Sec.—Fannie A. Manchester. Treas.—John B. Cornell. R. S. to N. G.—Phoebe Franklin. L. S. to N. G.—Susan J. Tallman. R. S. to V. G.—Amanda Franklin. L. S. to V. G.—Hannah Monroe. Warden—John T. Brown. Guardian—Alex. G. Manchester. Chaplain—Elizabeth Brown.

Loss of a Mule.—Mr. William W. Anthony took a week ago to-day one of his pair of mules. It had been turned out in the yard but a little while, when Mrs. Anthony saw it turning round very rapidly. She called Mr. Anthony, who started at once, but before he could get to it, it fell. He tried to get it up, but did not succeed, and in a few minutes the mule was dead. It is thought to have had a fit, as it had not shown any signs of sickness. It was valued at $250.

Lecture.—The sixth lecture of the Christian Church course was by Rev. M. Van Horn, of Newport, on Tuesday evening last, subject—"Industry." Owing to the unpleasant traveling it was not as well attended as some of them have been. The next lecture will be by Rev. J. O. Thompson, of Middletown—A Poetic Lecture on a Poetic Subject—on Tuesday evening next.

Equine Loss.—Mrs. Isaac Gundall, who resides near the Glen, lost her horse on Thursday morning. It is thought from the symptoms, it might have had the bots, as it was sick but a short time. The loss is probably $150.

It is stated that the government has purchased for use at the Torpedo Station the Lay-Haight torpedo boat experimented with at the station last summer. The Lay Torpedo Co. has secured at a cost of some $400,000 all patents bearing on movable and controllable torpedo boats. Mr. John L. Lay is in Russia in the employ of the government, which has paid him for his inventions some $300,000. The company are building two improved boats weighing some 800 or 900 pounds. These will be the smallest boats built, but are believed to be as effective as any other.

The Graydon Safety Car Heater, the patent of Lieut. J. W. Graydon, U. S. N., attached to the New Hampshire, is a preventive against the horrors of the recent Hudson River Railroad disaster, in which the wrecked cars were set fire from the stores with which the cars were heated.

A $20,000 Biblical Prize.—The publisher of Bible Echo Monthly in the prize puzzle department of their Monthly for February offer the following easy way for some one to make $20,000: To the person telling us which is the shortest verse in the Old Testament Scriptures by February 15th, 1882, we will give $20,000 in gold as a prize. The money will be forwarded to the winner February 15th, 1882. Those who try for the prize must send 20 cts. in silver (no postage stamps taken) with their answer for which they will receive the March number of the Monthly in which will be published the name and address of the winner of the prize, with the correct answer thereto. Cut this out; it may be worth $20,000 to you. Address, ROUTE FOUR PUBLISHING COMPANY, EASTON, PA.

A New Haven minister of the gospel told one of his deacons that he was constantly hearing a loud voice which kept him awake nights. Since using Dr. Benson's Celery and Chamomile Pills his hearing has become normal, and his nerves are steady and true.

Edison owns 250 patents. Poor man!

CATARH OF THE BLADDER.—Stinging, smarting, irritation of the urinary passages, discharges, cured by Buchu-ropia. Druggists. Depot: Casswell, Hazard & Co., Newport.

Oscar Wilde's ideal of perfect beauty is Sarah Bernhardt.

There were over 600 suicides, and 1226 murders in the United States last year.

JUDGE MEN BY THEIR WORKS.—A man is judged in this life by his works, and in this connection it may not be inappropriate to add, that Dr. Swaine has accomplished more good through the medium of his Ointment for skin diseases, than has the entire school of physicians combined. "It is an ill wind that blows nobody good." What the physicians have lost Dr. Swaine has gained.

Cockroaches are a great annoyance in Florida.

Charles Cogswell, who has not been able to take to his business for years, was interviewed by our reporter yesterday and said: "For years I was troubled with Bright's disease, and the doctors gave me up. Through an advertisement I obtained a bottle of Sulphur Bitters. I took five bottles and now I am almost well. Kind send me a box."—San Francisco Call.

W. H. Locke, ex-postmaster at Eufaula, Ala., having been charged with embezzlement of government funds, shot and killed himself, Sunday.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

From all Parts of the World.

Unpleasant Happenings.

Three men were killed and seven wounded by an accidental explosion on the British ship Triumph, at Cuzco, Peru, Nov. 22.—Five new cases of small-pox were reported at Port Jervis, N. J., on Saturday, making 62 cases in all.—Thirty-three freight cars were wrecked and two engineers were hurt through the misplacement of a switch on the Hudson River Road near Syracuse Saturday.—William Spaulding, Thomas Cates and William Wischell, three boys, were killed by the fall of an old building in Brooklyn Saturday. They were playing in a dilapidated frame house and displaced a beam which supported one of the floors. This precipitated the whole structure upon their heads, crushing them to death.—The business part of the city of Galveston, Tex., was damaged by fire, Friday afternoon, nearly $1,000,000. Albion, New York, was also scorched $250,000.—A Swedish mail-steamship was sunk in Calmar Sound, while on a trial trip. Fifteen persons were drowned.

Sundry Matters Succinctly Stated.

The governor of Kentucky insists that Maj. Hicks shall be hanged on the 27th instant. The condemned man is now very low with small-pox. The theft of the cashier from the Prince Edward Island bank footed up $300,000. The directors have partially made up the deficiency.—The Queen of the Pacific, a large iron steamer intended for the Pacific coast, was launched at Philadelphia, on Saturday.—A strangely fatal disease is raging on the ranches along the Rio Grande.—Rich mineral deposits have been discovered near Wilcox, Arizona, averaging $600 to $1,200 per ton.—Fifteen of the Brooklyn Aldermen who attempted to override the Mayor's veto were fined and imprisoned for contempt of Court. They have been released.—An almost unprecedented snowfall is reported in California.

A Frightful Railroad Disaster.

On Friday evening of last week a passenger train on the Hudson River Railroad, while standing on a curve near Spuyten Duyvil station within the limits of New York city, was run into by a train following. The two rear cars, which were palace cars, were telescoped by the locomotive of the colliding train. The cars took fire from the stoves by which they were heated, and eight persons, unable to escape, were burned to death. The train had some 600 passengers, including senators and representatives of the State Legislature and many politicians on their way from Albany to New York. A part of them occupied the two fated cars, but all escaped except State Senator Webster Wagner, who was burned to death in one of the Wagner coaches, of his own invention. Among the other victims were a bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. Park Valentine, of Bennington, Vt., who had been married only the preceding day in North Adams, where resided Mr. Gaylord, the bride's father. The accident was the result of mismanagement or a blunder. The flagman sent back to warn the approaching train failed to get around the curve, so as to have his lantern seen, and too late came the warning down brakes. The brakeman is under arrest. When the cars took fire, the trainmen and outsiders were helpless, as there were no appliances at hand to break open the cars. The use of stoves, to heat the cars—a strangely old-fashioned method for the leading railroad in the country—added to the extent of the disaster. The general negligence of the officials, brought to light by the accident, is truly astonishing. Aside from the 8 killed or burned, two others were dangerously and a larger number slightly hurt.

Ominous Gathering.

A broken wheel was the means of precipitating two cars down an embankment on the St. Paul road, near New Albion, Ia., Tuesday. One infant was killed and 25 persons were seriously hurt, two or three fatally.—Senorita Catalina Gorgora, a beautiful girl only 17 years old, went up in a balloon at Curantia, Mexico, Sunday, performing on a trapeze. Three-quarters of a mile up the balloon burst and the girl perished.—The death is announced in London, of the widow of E. A. Sobern, the actor.—A fire Monday night destroyed the temporary wing of the insane hospital at St. Peters, Minnesota, built for patients burned out a year ago. The forty inmates were rescued without injury. Loss $10,000.—An explosion of gas has occurred in the Cross Keys colliery at Newport, England, by which four persons were killed.—Mrs. Caroline Richings-Bernard, the famous contralto, died in Richmond, Va., Saturday morning, of small-pox.

Missing Steamships.

Freight steamships City of London and Henry Eyde are believed to have foundered. The pecuniary loss will be $700,000, and each had a large crew.

HE SUFFERED FOR 35 YEARS.

For thirty-five years I have been the victim of that terrible disease, Dyspepsia; have consulted eminent physicians, and tried almost every remedy. My family Physician finally told me I could not be cured. THE FIRST DOSE OF COE'S DYSPEPSIA CURE helped me, and today I consider myself cured, and am ready to affirm that it is the most valuable medicine ever placed before the public.

Mr. PATTERSON MEANT WHAT HE SAID:

I hereby certify that my boy, ten years of age, was taken sick with typhoid fever, followed by congestion of the lungs. Dr. Dyer, an eminent physician of this city, stated that he thought the boy would run down with QUICK CONSUMPTION. A Mr. Patterson told me that COE'S CURE FOR BRONCHITIS was curing similar cases, and advised me to purchase it. When I carried it home, my wife laughed at me; but I knew that Mr. PATTERSON MEANT JUST WHAT HE SAID, and I determined to try it. Two bottles effectually cured him, so that now he is as tough and healthy as anybody.

The Emperor of China has 80,000 camels.

Few houses, in any line of business, have extended their trade all over the entire country as have D. M. Faxon & Co., the celebrated Seedmen, of Detroit, Mich. They furnish employment to about 1,000 persons, and keep 60 commercial travelers on the road, looking after their interests. They grow on their own Seed Farms a very large proportion of the seeds they sell, which is probably one of the principal reasons why their goods are held in such high esteem all over the land. We would advise all our readers seeking information regarding seeds to send and procure a copy of their new and beautiful Seed Annual for 1882.

The Key to Health.

Have you found the key to perfect health and strength? It is Kidney-Wort, the only remedy that overcomes at once the inaction of the kidneys and bowels. It purifies the blood, by cleansing the system of foul humors and by giving strength to the liver, kidneys and bowels to perform their regular functions. See displayed advertisement.

Farm, Garden and Household.

The Value on Kelp as a Manure.

Farmers who live within a few miles of the ocean have at least one advantage over those whose farms are located in the interior; as they can, without any cash outlay, wonderfully improve the condition of a run-down farm, by expending their labor in cutting and applying kelp, which every year lands in large quantities on the seashore. This material, although not as good, ton for ton, as stable manure, yet it is for many crops a valuable manure; it is very rich in potash, and contains a fair proportion of nitrogenous compounds, but is not particularly rich in phosphates. The fact that it contains so large a proportion of water is really the reason that its value per ton is below animal manures. There is a great choice in kelp, even more than in barn manures. That which has once been landed on the shore in large heaps, and remained undisturbed long enough to heat, and then again soaked and washed by the water, is very much reduced in value, at least one third if not more.

Many farmers who live near the sea shore make it a practice to keep up their plowing lands by covering them over every few years with kelp. While by this practice they are able to get good crops, if the land be moist, we do not think it the best way to use it. There are several objections to this surface application: First, there are always more or less stones and muscels attached to the kelp which must be picked off before moving; Second, there are always mixed with the kelp other sea plants that will not decay on the surface the first season, and are always in the way of the mower; Third, unless applied early in the season, and gets well pressed down into the ground by the snow and rain, and the spring is not a wet one, a considerable portion of the kelp will be lifted up by the growing grass, and thus not only fail to furnish plant-food but obstruct the mower and injure the quality of hay.

Applied to land in the autumn, and lightly plowed in in the spring, it makes an excellent manure for potatoes; but if one can do it it is always better to use it in connection with other manures, those that are rich in phosphates always being preferred. When kelp is to be applied on the surface for grass, moist land should be selected, and it should be applied as early in the season as possible. To apply it to grass on high, dry land, after spring opens, is often an injury rather than a benefit to the crop.—[Ploughman.]

Care for Cribbing.

Let me mention a cure for cribbing in horses, says a correspondent of the "Country Gentleman;" at least I found a cure for my first attempt in horseflesh. The animal was warranted in writing, "free from all tricks," &c. The first ten days no trick was observed. Subsequently my purchase proved to be a determined cribber. The seller was apparently astonished. Nothing of the kind ever occurred while he owned the horse. An inspection of the stable where the horse had been, showed us no traces of chewed woodwork. My brother-in-law, accustomed to horses all his life, was sorely puzzled. He was convinced there "was some game," and "game" there was. Convinced that I had been "sold," I retaliated by finding out that the seller had used a paste made of red pepper and brown soap, lightly applied wherever and whenever he discovered marks of teeth in the stall, the paste being masked by dust scattered on top. Thus it was, the horse thinking my woodwork was like his late stable, let the timbers alone at first. I tried the remedy. The horse has not attempted to crib for four months, and a stranger would never imagine that a hundred little spots within reach of his head have bits of the paste. The horse knows it, however, and lets my stall alone.

Live and Dead Weight of Turkeys.

Farmers frequently have occasion to sell turkeys by live weight, and wish to know what is the fair relative price between live and dead weight. In turkeys for the New York market, where the blood and feathers only are removed, the loss is very small. For the Eastern markets, the heads are taken off and the entrails are taken out. This makes a loss of nearly one-tenth in weight. A large gobbler was recently killed, weighing 31 3-4 lbs. After bleeding and picking, he weighed 29 1-2 lbs., a loss of three and quarter lbs., which is nearly one-tenth of the weight. When the markets require the New York style of dressing, the price is fifteen cents a pound, live weight, or less, if the labor of dressing is counted anything. In the other style of dressing, the price would be for eighteen cents, or less, live weight, without loss. Farmers who have never tested the loss of weight in dressing often submit to the deduction of three or four cents a pound for the middlemen, who are interested in making this large difference.

The Coming Animals.

The coming cow is the one, who, if kept for milk, will give from 24 to 30 quarts per day for at least eight months in the season. If for butter, she should give a large quantity of rich milk, although the quantity has not so much to do with a good butter maker as the quality.

The coming horse is one that combines both speed and working qualities.

The coming sheep is one that will give us both wool and mutton, and plenty of both.

The coming hog is the one that will lay on the most pork for the food consumed, and of a quiet disposition and not inclined to run about.

The coming farmer is he who strives to excel and keep up with the times in everything relating to the business of farming.—[Orange Co. Farmer.]

The Time for Pruning.

Trim trees and shrubs any time when the wood is not frozen. Grapevines may be pruned now, and the trimmings cut up into cuttings and buried quite deep in the open ground or in moist earth in the cellar. The same method may be pursued with currants and gooseberries. Blackberry and red raspberry roots may be dug during open spells now, cut up into small pieces, packed in sand and put away in the cellar so they will callous over and be in good condition to plant out next spring.

Agricultural Notes.

Southern New Jersey reports 50 carp ponds in successful operation, and 200 more in course of construction.

The farmers of North Franklin, Me., are turning their attention largely to the breeding of fine wool sheep.

At a recent sale of 436 Merino sheep in Tasmania, it is said that a seven-year-old ram was sold for $3020, and $35,935 was received for the whole flock.

There are said to be six forms of "blind staggers" in horses, two only of which are regarded as essentially incurable. The first of the incurable forms is due to the formation of tumors in the brain, usually composed of a peculiar fat known as cholesteroline, the second to a disturbance of the circulation in the brain as the result of some structural disease of the heart.

According to Col. F. D. Curtis, experiments have demonstrated that cooking food adds to its value about twenty-five per cent. for fattening pigs. But from this apparent gain must be taken the miller's toll, one-tenth, and the cost and labor of cooking. When pigs eat a large amount of meal in a raw state and not soured, it will ferment more or less in the stomach, and this condition tends to destroy the appetite and to produce scours.

Feed your stock on good, sound nutritious food, let them have pure air, pure water, and let cleanliness be your guide, particularly if you are shipping milk or making butter. How many cans of milk have soured on the way to market, because a drop or two of sour milk was left in the milk pail or can when they were washed. How many tubs of butter have been off in value two or five cents a pound, because the milk or cream had been sitting where it contracted foul odors.

A GREAT BLESSING TO MOTHERS AND NURSES.

"Singer's Teething Cure" for Infants. This new theory and infallible remedy has saved the lives of thousands of children. When the child is in pain, or restless with its teeth shooting in the gums, simply rub the gums for two or three minutes with the "Cure." What little it may soothe will relieve colic, pain and disturbance, prevent fever, and avoid that painful operation of drawing the gums, which always makes the next tooth harder to come through and sometimes causes death. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to your nerves and immediate relief and health to your infants. A very able medical writer, who enjoys a large and lucrative practice, says: "rubbing the gums with a soothing lotion, is the only true method for relieving the pain of teething, and should never be introduced into their delicate stomachs." "Singer's Teething Cure" is prepared only by Dr. J. C. Singer & Son, Philadelphia, and sold by all leading druggists at 25 cents a bottle. 1-7-17

Afternoon Tea.

Afternoon tea is the simplest form of hospitality, and can be made one of the most charming. With the inveterate propensity of Americans to exaggerate and overdo everything, the pretty tea table and unpretending refreshments have been transformed into an ornate affair of orchestral music, floral decorations, elaborate menu, with the ridiculous misnomer of "afternoon tea" tacked on to it. If anything could banish the "leaders of society," which are commonly the least independent class in the world, it would be to see the simplicity of 5 o'clock tea, to which half of London is perhaps invited, at houses of the genuine English aristocracy—tea and cake and "claret cup"—which is our old friend claret punch under another name—is enough to entertain a Cabinet minister on. It is one of those convenient arrangements for putting the rich and poor of good society on the same level, and accomplishes its object admirably on its native soil; but with us it becomes a swell reception. The great unwashed having taken to receptions kindly; those who are a generation in advance of them, must call their receptions by another name.

The tea-gown is supposed to be an invention of Oscar Wilde's, that is, his mind never actually descended to the consideration of brocades and damasks, but, as the autocrat of his school, he decreed that the tea-gown should be adopted. Some old-fashioned people object to what they call "tea-gown manners," which means that along with the adoption of laissez-faire dress, there is a laissez-faire method of behaving one's self, but that is probably only one of the many objections that a great discovery meets with. The great milliner of Paris is said to favor tea-gowns, and bends the whole force of his mighty intellect to designing these artistic creations. (This is the proper way to allude to them.) Five o'clock tea has never taken root elsewhere in Europe.

A Word of Caution to Parents.

Let a boy once distrust the love and tenderness of his parents, and the last resort of his yearning affections—so far as the world goes—is utterly gone. He is in the sure road to a bitter fate. His heart will take on a hard, iron covering, that will dash out plenty of fire in his after contact with the world, but it will never, never melt.—Donald G. Mitchell

Advice to Young Girls.

Girls, don't allow mother to darn your stockings, attend to this simple duty yourself. Fine darning is really an accomplishment. Take the care of your outfit wardrobe as far as possible. Don't let a button be off your shoes a minute longer than is necessary. It takes just about a minute to sew one on, and how much better a foot looks in a trimly buttoned boot than it does a lopsided affair, with half the buttons off. Every girl should learn to make the simple articles of clothing. Make the work a study. Once got in the habit of looking over your things, and you will like it wonderfully. You will have the independent feeling that you need not wait for any one's convenience in repairing and making, but that you can be beforehand in all such matters. The relief to your weary mother will be more than you can estimate. When you become as old and worn as she is, you will know how much "every little helps."

Health Hints.

For chapped skin, take oxide of zinc, one drachm; lard, two ounces. It is also good for any kind of sores.

To obtain a good night's sleep, sponge the entire length of the spine with hot water for ten or fifteen minutes.

Says Dr. Foote's Health Monthly: Milk which is slightly acid, and butter-milk, produce in some individuals a hypnotic (sleepy) effect.

Never stand still in cold weather, especially after taking a slight degree of exercise; and always avoid standing upon the ice or snow, or where the person is exposed to the cold wind.

To cure ingrowing toe nails, one author says, put a small piece of fallow in a spoon, heat it until it becomes very hot, and pour on the granulations. Pain and tenderness are relieved at once, and in a few days the granulations are all gone, the diseased parts dry, and grow destitute of all feeling, and the edge of the nail exposed so as to admit of being pared away without any inconvenience.

The Brunswick Soups.

A really nice, palatable soup is a triumph of culinary skill, and few there be who attain to superiority (no pun intended) in the concoction thereof, but with a box of the "Brunswick soups" at hand, the least experienced housekeeper need not fear to promise her "liege lord" a first course of real excellence. These soups come in the form of dry powders, neatly done up in tin boxes, and the preparation of them for the table is simple and easy. They contain all the ingredients used by the best cooks. Among the varieties prepared are such as Beef à la Bretonne, Oxtail à l'Anglaise, Bisque of Lobster, Bisque of Fish, &c. They are, indeed, among the things it is "handy to have in the house"—and we may add, "especially in the country," with a few boxes of these in the closet, the most unlooked-for intrusion of guests need not alarm the fair housewife, for she can at least regale them, as General Scott would say, with "a hasty plate of soup," of whose quality she is well advised.

What Miss Evans Did.

A daughter of ex-Secretary Evans made herself a favorite in Washington society, not alone by her snowy complexion, gray-blue eyes and golden hair, but as well by her cups of chocolate. The Mexican Minister used to say that in his own land no beverage was so delicious. It was made of the best already-sweetened chocolate, broken and placed in a warm spot to melt. When afterward put into a farina kettle, the boiling milk was poured upon it, and from the moment when the first drop of milk touched it until it was done it was stirred. It was allowed to boil for several minutes, and when it was served in delicate cups it was thick and almost jelly like, and was capped with whipped cream.

Recipes for the Table.

SCOTCH COLLOP.—Take lean meat, beef, veal or mutton, cut into little squares, and stew until quite tender in water enough to cover it, season with salt, pepper, and pot herbs, and thicken the gravy with a little flour. Toast some slices of bread, butter and cut into wedges, turn the stew into a platter and set the toast round the edges.

DESSERT.—Pare and quarter your apples, put them into a pudding dish with sugar, and bake. When cool, beat stiff the whites two eggs, add half a cup of pulverized sugar, spread over the apples, and return to the oven to brown a little. Serve cold with cream.

A NICK STEW.—A nice stew is made by chopping fine any pieces of fresh meat, and trimmings of roast meat, then pare and chop several potatoes and one small onion, season and stew until tender, and turn it over several slices of toast.

CREAM SODA.—Three ounces of tartaric acid, four pounds of white sugar, five pints of water, and the whites of three eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Boil four minutes after adding the eggs, stirring constantly. Cool, flavor with half a bottle of vanilla, or flavor part with lemon. Cork tight. Use two tablespoonsful for a glass of water, and stir in a little soda.

MOUNTAIN CAKE.—One-half cup of butter, the same of milk, one cup of sugar, two cups of flour, two eggs, one-half teaspoonful of soda, and one teaspoonful of cream of tartar.

LEMON TARTS.—Two lemons, four tablespoonsful of powdered sugar, one heaping tablespoonful of butter, and three eggs. Grate the rinds of the lemons and mix with the sugar and butter. Mix the juice of the lemons with the whites of the eggs. Beat the whites of the eggs to a stiff froth, and stir in two tablespoonsful of powdered sugar. Make pie paste, mix the ingredients (all but the whites of the eggs and the sugar), fill the tarts half full, bake till nearly done, then fill up with the whites of eggs and sugar, and bake a light brown.

SNOW BALL CUSTARD.—One quart of sweet cream, the yolks of five eggs, one cup of sugar, just let it boil, and when cool take the whites of the eggs, beat to a stiff froth, have some milk boiling and drop the froth in spoonfuls in the milk, then take out and put on the custard with a bit of jelly on each half.

FRUIT CAKE.—One pound of butter, one pound of sugar, one pound of flour, two pounds of currants, two pounds of raisins, one and one-quarter pounds of citron, twelve eggs, leaving out the whites of six eggs for frosting, three nutmegs, one teaspoonful of mace, and one teaspoonful of cinnamon. Cut the citron in slices, and put in a layer of cake, then a layer of citron, until it is all used. Bake gradually four or five hours.

CORN CAKE.—Two cups of sweet milk, one-half cup of meal, one-half cup butter, one egg, one tablespoonful each of flour, sugar, and sour milk, and just a little soda. This is very nice to eat with meat.

RICE PUDDING.—One quart of milk, one-third cup of rice, two-thirds cup of sugar, and a little salt. Put all in a dish and cook (bake) from two and one-half to three hours, stirring often. Use uncooked rice.

ROAST BEEF WITH YORKSHIRE PUDDING.—Three-quarters of an hour before the beef is done, pour nearly all the drippings from the pan, then place the meat on a small wire trivet, or lacking this put it on a wire grating, or even a few sticks across the top of the pan. Pour the pudding into the pan and return all to the oven; the drippings from the meat will fall on the pudding and season it; when done place the meat in the middle of the platter, and lay the pudding, cut in pieces, around. If preferred the latter may be baked in a separate pan, and served around the meat in the same manner.

For the Pudding.—To a pint of sifted flour add a teaspoonful of salt, and half a pint of milk; add the beaten yolks of four eggs, then another half pint of milk. Lastly put in the four whites beaten to a very stiff froth. Don't use baking powder; beat furiously; turn into hot pan; bake three-quarters of an hour.

NEWPORT COUNTY NEWS.

MIDDLETOWN.

Court of Probate.—The usual monthly session of the court was held on Monday with a full attendance of members, when the following named matters were considered and passed:

The executrix of the will of Samuel G. Arnold represents the estate of her testator as insolvent, and prays for the appointment of commissioners thereon. Samuel Stone, Christopher M. Lee and Charles Acton were appointed such commissioners. Inventory of the estate of Benjamin Sweet amounting to $381.15 was examined, allowed and ordered recorded.

The administrator's first and final account with the estate of Elton W. Peckham, the guardian's second account with the estate of Rebecca E. Fales and the guardian's eleventh account with the estate of Fanny A. and Esther A. Smith were severally examined, allowed and ordered to be recorded. The administrator's first account with the estate of Daniel Congdon was received and returned with an order of notice. A decree was entered authorizing and approving of the leasing of the McCorrie farm in Portsmouth, and the Bailey farm in Middletown, late the property of William B. Fales, now of Rebecca E. Fales, minor, by her guardian, according to terms and conditions submitted to the court by the guardian.

In Town Council—Accounts against the town to the amount of $73.92 were allowed and ordered paid, and the council adjourned to meet as a board of canvassers on the 30th inst., at one o'clock, p. m., for the purpose of canvassing and preparing the lists of voters for the political year now ensuing.

OF MIDDLETOWN'S PUBLIC BUILDINGS.—At times during the past decade much has been said relative to the unbecomingly and shabby character of the public buildings of Middletown, especially of her Town Hall and school houses. Much of this adverse criticism has come from without the borders of Middletown, and more, undoubtedly, from her own citizens. This criticism has not been wholly without effect, for two new school-houses have been erected in the town in the past decade, and we got to the incipient act of building a Town Hall in 1877, and were only anchored here by an unfortunate selection of plans and unhappy differences about its location. Of late there seems to be a fresh outburst of sentiment on this subject of public buildings. We have in particular heard some rather indiscreet talk respecting the destruction of the school-house in District No. 1 of this town, in order to make way for a new one. That the effect of this talk is mischievous is readily seen in the way in which this school-house and other buildings, both public and private, in its vicinity, have been treated, notably in the matter of breaking windows. We would caution our zealous advocates of new school-houses to be more prudent, and those lawless ones whose predominant bump is destructiveness, to be chary, lest they be apprehended and committed to a house of correction of another kind. This ancient school district deserves, and doubtless will, not long long hence, have a more creditable house. It will never do, however, to despise a man for the simplicity of his garb or the plainness of his but. There are certain qualities of mind and heart which outshine all exterior wrapping. Middletown will do well to improve the character of her public buildings as soon as she can consistently, and meanwhile some of her critics will do better by adopting a more conservative course of teaching.

BLACK ISLAND.

THE ISLAND FISHERIES.—The fishing boats are nearly all hauled up for the season. The catch of codfish for the autumn and winter of 1881-82 must be set down as moderate. The principal part of the catch was made late in December. The quality of the catch is excellent. We understand that some small lots have been sold already at $6.25 per quintal. It would seem as though these fish are year by year becoming more scarce upon these shores. This, undoubtedly, is owing to causes which should be remedied, and yet are hard to remedy. The Black Island fishermen have always been careful in the use of their fishing grounds. Their practices with relation to those grounds have smacked of sound good sense. Like a man cares for his field who realizes that his support comes from that field—if it suffers, he must suffer—so it has been always with the Black Island fisherman and his fishing grounds. They have guarded their grounds with a jealous eye. Going out each morning and returning each night, they have daily landed their fish and dressed them at their shores, so that all the heads, entrails and gurry have been deposited upon the land instead of in the sea. They have also clung tenaciously to the good old fashioned hook and line as good enough for them. Since the erection of the breakwater, numerous craft from the east and the west have found that ordinarily there is behind this breakwater a passable harbor within reach of the fishing grounds; so they have ventured to try their luck upon these banks, where heretofore only the boats of the Black Island fishermen have dangled. Coming in decked vessels of from 30 to 40 tons measurement, they have been able, knowing that the breakwater was within reach, to lay for days and weeks together upon these grounds. Rather than go in and deposit their gurry upon the shore, as they should in fairness and honesty have done, they, rather than lose precious time, have thrown overboard this offal, consisting of heads and entrails, and carried by the waves and tide, it has scattered over the banks and feeding grounds of these fishes. The merest novice is aware that a fish is constitutionally timid and fearful. He has organs of sight which were given him with which to see, and when he sees, he sees he must, the mutilated heads of his companions lying thick about him, and even drifting over the table where he eats his daily rations, he, because he can do no better, leaves for pasture poorer, even if he lie farther seaward; and these heads and entrails can not lie long without fermentation, they disintegrate, and the rotting, seething particles go to foul the water and make it nauseous and unpalatable. Aside from this, many of these strange vessels fish not with the ordinary hook and line, but with what are known as trawl lines. These trawls are constructed thus: a long, strong line is first provided, from one to two thousand feet in length; to this, short pieces of cod line are attached at intervals of from four to six feet distant; hooks are gauged to these short lines; an anchor having been attached to one end is thrown overboard, as is also a buoy to designate where the anchor lies; then the boat containing the coil of trawl line is slowly rowed away, and the hooks are baited as the line is paid out, until the whole is overboard, when another anchor and buoy are placed to mark the spot where it ends. From time to time the boat's crew, beginning at one end, underdraw this line or trawl, removing the fish and baiting the hooks anew. Probably not more than one half the fish which are caught by these hooks ever come to the hand or boat of the fisherman; many slip off and escape, others are drowned and disengaged from the hook by the action of the sea in pulling up the trawl. The sight of so many fish lying for hours full of pain from the hook which holds them, is not calculated to make a fish contented. One cannot wonder that the sum of fishes taken yearly grows less, or that the old fishermen of Black Island murmur and complain. They certainly have good reason to complain; but more of this at some future time.

THE TEMPERANCE CAUSE.—Tuckish Lodge of Good Templars, instituted about one year ago through the efforts of Rev. Mr. Durfee, pastor of the old First Church, is doing a good and noble work. Some 50 persons, mostly young men and women, are now upon its roll of membership. We understand that numerous accessions to its membership are looked for, that is, judging from the numerous alarms which reach its outer gate. God speed the good cause.

A QUEER ACT.—The Salome Society, organized nearly three years ago for the purpose of promoting and fostering a spirit of sociability, and to aid the First Baptist church in its work, still lives. On Thursday evening, the 12th inst., the ladies of the society gave an oyster supper at Harbor Hall, which, although successful, would have been much more so, had not some evil-minded person started and maintained a report, that the oysters which the ladies had procured were spoiled, and would surely cause sickness to such as ate them. To think for a moment that the gentlemen who furnished the oysters would foist upon ladies a worthless, rotten article, is preposterous; and again to presume that the high-minded Christian ladies who had this supper in charge would feed their neighbors with damaged oysters, is equally preposterous. The fact is, we have on Black Island some men, and women too, whose tongues have never been bridled. Rumor has it that there will be a day of reckoning.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.—The Sunday School connected with the First church was never more prosperous. It numbers 12 officers and teachers and 150 scholars. The infant class, numbering 40, is under the care of the estimable wife of the pastor of the church. This class is provided with a room of its own, well fitted and furnished for its work. Mr. M. M. Day, the successful proprietor of the Connecticut house, has charge of the Bible class, while his father, an aged, faithful Christian gentleman, is gradually gathering an interesting class of adult persons.

Mr. Howard Champlin, from Wakefield, R. I., who is teaching in one of the public schools of our island, is rendering substantial aid to the school in the use of his cornet, upon which he is a fine performer. The clear, full notes and tones of his instrument as it accompanies the organ, cannot be mistaken, nor serve to hold the voices of the children down well to the time and tune.

By the way this same Mr. Champlin is a fine penman; he has a writing school in progress which meets weekly on Monday evenings.

The estimate of the engineers for completing the improvement of the Providence River and Narragansett Bay is $270,000.

Samuel S. Sweet's grain and dyewood mill, 16 Charles street, Providence, was damaged $5000 or $6000 by fire, Saturday morning.

Less than 200 of the 2500 men who registered to vote in Providence, this year, failed to pay their taxes, or have them paid for them.

In Pawtucket, Saturday, Mrs. Harriet Knight, aged ninety-one, died in consequence of a fall down stairs. She was stepmother of Hon. Ezekiel Conant.

Maria Kelley was taken into custody, Saturday, on a charge of procuring the publication of a fraudulent notice of the death of her sister, in the Providence "Journal." The law provides a penalty of $100 for sending to a newspaper publisher, for publication, a fraudulent notice of a death, birth or marriage. In this case the accused party called at the office and dictated to a clerk the fraudulent notice, giving a false name as guaranty of the accuracy of the announcement; and the authorities decide that the law does not reach her case.
